On May 17, 2025, the Ecuadorian and Latino Entrepreneurs of Newark New Jersey had their Annual Mother's Day Festival. The Hope and Esperanza Community Health Center and Maxitia Project Inc. were participants at the celebration.

Lorena Ramos, CMA, the New Jersey Program Coordinator and Community Health Educator for both The Hope and Esperanza Community Health Center and Maxitia Project Inc. provided Health Screening and Counseling to the Festival attendees.

It was a truly unforgettable celebration, where the absolute protagonists were our beloved mothers—courageous, loving, and instrumental women in building our communities. Each one of them was honored with affection, received gifts, shared smiles, and experienced moments of joy and recognition.

On a radiant day, with music that caressed the soul, natural juices and fresh waters were served that refreshed not only the body but also the spirit. It was a space full of life, gratitude, and unity.

Hope Esperanza Community Health Center could not be absent, because our mission is clear: to bring preventive health, education, and support to every corner where there is a mother, a family, a heart to care for. As a medical assistant and community health worker, I am proud to be a bridge of well-being, a guide on the path to a healthier life, and a promoter of hope for our communities.

To all mothers: thank you for your dedication, and especially to mine for always being by my side, motivating me to serve with great professionalism and enthusiasm. To Hope Esperanza Community Health Center: thank you for allowing me to serve with love. Thank you to Maxitia Project Inc., where I have the honor of serving on its board, for being the guiding principle for these educational programs that, together with Hope and Esperanza, make our commitment to caring for the health of our communities possible.

And thank every person who believes in the power of community care: let us continue to show health, joy, and transformation.
