Isabel Leticia Castro

President and CEO

Maxitia Project Inc.

Isabel Leticia Castro is a dedicated community leader and health professional with a heart for service. With many years in the nonprofit sector, Isabel's journey with Maxitia Project Inc. began with a simple belief: that every member of the community deserves a long and healthy life and the opportunity to fulfill their life goals .

With many years of experience in public health, healthcare administration, Isabel Leticia Castro brings a wealth of knowledge and leadership to the organization. Prior to joining Maxitia Project Inc., Isabel served as the Administrator for DA Medical Service in New York City, where she honed her skills as a Clinician and a Healthcare Administrator. Isabel's passion for healthcare and commitment to Maxitia Projects Inc.'s mission make her an ideal leader. She is dedicated to improving access to care, expanding services to the community, and her vision for the future focuses on helping provide Community Education Programs in the fields of Health, Finance, and other social areas. The goal is to help community members have a solid foundation in life to build a strong and resilient society.

Isabel Leticia Castro is a graduate of Ross University Medical School. She also holds a Bachelor of Science; Biology Major, Chemistry Minor, Theology Minor from Fordham University and is a graduate of the Calhoun School Upper School in New York City. She also graduated from the Institute for Laser Medicine with a degree in Laser Medicine.

Isabel's career has spanned roles in program management, fundraising, and executive leadership. Isabel is also the owner of Hats' Utsil Beauty LLC, a Medical Aesthetics Company in New York City.

Her ability to drive strategic initiatives has helped transform communities one project at a time. Isabel's passion for community service stems from her own experiences growing up in an underserved community. She knows firsthand the impact that dedicated nonprofits can have, and she's committed to ensuring Maxitia Project Inc. reaches even more community members in need.

When she is not advocating for Community Improvement, you can find Isabel volunteering at her local Church, helping with the Youth Ministry and enjoying nature with her son, Julian Izan and her husband, Chef Paul Arevalo.

Isabel welcomes all conversations about how we can better serve our community.
